Conference Overview

This webinar will focus on engaging and retaining people who use drugs and other substances in health care — from primary care to the ED to inpatient units. Substance users and those with substance-use disorders are often stigmatized and poorly understood by providers. Medical providers, PCPs, ED clinicians, social workers, nurses, drug treatment providers, and first responders will learn new ways to engage drug users and think about addiction, so they're better prepared to provide high-quality health care in a humane, compassionate way.
