Conference overview

The 5th Annual Immigrant and Refugee Access to Health Care Conference will be a continuation of the subjects discussed during last year's conference. The conference will discuss the barriers to care refugees and immigrants face, as well as how current policies and procedures are affecting access to care. Local and national experts will provide invaluable presentations related to providing immigrants and refugees with accurate, culturally-sensitive information. This conference is intended for physicians, nurses, other health care providers, and community organization partners.

Conference objectives

- Provide a clear understanding of cultural barriers that refugees and immigrants face to access care.
- Explaining systemic barriers that prevent refugees and immigrants from accessing health care services.
- Share best practices to improve equity and access to care.
- Provide tools to identify structural gaps within organizations.
