2024 San Antonio Breast Cancer Symposium Review

Friday, February 14, 2025

Fairmont Pittsburgh
510 Market Street
Pittsburgh, PA 15222

Sponsored by
Allegheny General Hospital
AHN Cancer Institute
Allegheny Health Network
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

Conference overview

This conference will review and discuss the high-impact findings, with clinical relevance for physicians caring for women with breast cancer, that are presented each year at the International San Antonio Breast Cancer Symposium. Practicing clinicians and other oncology health care professionals who are unable to attend the meeting in San Antonio will benefit from a presentation of the symposium highlights, which will offer an opportunity for interactive discussion with expert faculty. This conference is intended for practicing oncologists, surgeons, radiologists, and other health care professionals.

Conference objectives

At the conclusion of this course, participants should be able to:

- Summarize current information relevant to the evolving biology of breast cancer related to hormonal and chemotherapy research in the adjuvant and metastatic locally advanced breast cancer setting with regard to clinical trials and treatment.
- State the advances in biological prognostic factors for early-stage breast cancer.
- Discuss surgical management and breast conservation therapy for patients with breast cancer.
