Overview

The 7th Annual Pancreatic Cancer Symposium hosted by AHN Cancer Institute is a comprehensive event dedicated to advancing knowledge and improving care for patients with this challenging disease. Leading experts in the field will share the latest breakthroughs in treatment, innovative approaches, and emerging research.

Objectives

- Discuss innovations in the management of pancreatic cancer.
- Discuss the strategies for nutritional support and management of pancreatic cancer patients.
- Develop networking collaborations for pancreatic cancer.
- Discuss current treatment therapies for pancreatic neuroendocrine tumors (pPNETs).
